COAL STRIKE IS UP AGAINST LAW AND PUBLIC WRATH

Court Injunction and the Army Brought into Play to Save tha Nation from Cold and Hunger in Thia-Hold-up.

Union eoai miners in four States truck last Ssturday for sixty per, cent. increase in wages, six hours to con-stitute a day's work, and five days to be called a week.

The United States government lmmedistely shipped soldiers to various points and an injunction was issued restraining the officers of the United' Mine Workers from taking any part whatever in the strike, or from paying out of their treasury any money tostrikers for their support during the strike. This has stopped them so effectively that if the injunction is made-permanent the men will be glad to return to work very soon. The injunction proceedings will be heard in court at Indianapoils Saturday.

The U. S. Attorney General charges that the strike is lilegal.

President Wilson denounces it as illegal, unjustified and immoral, and ie is taking every step possible to end the outrage. Public sentiment was never so bitter against strikes as it is put an end to methods that permit 500,000 foreigners and traitorous natives to force 109,500,000 citizens to their knees upon threat of freezing and starving them to death. It sounds en-couraging to hear such timely words coming from Congress, where hereto-fore the fear of the labor vote has caused the politicians of that body to permit anarchy to have free rein in the United States.

At present rates of pay coal miners who will work can make from five to twelve dollars per day. The best class, the loyal American citizens want to work steadily, but the strikers in this and other lines make it impossible. Raliroad strikes stop the miners. Milstrikes stop the demand for coal. Ma rine strikes stop the export trade. Anda so it goes. The laboring men cut thoir. own throats at a time when they could? e more prosperous than ever in their lives. The agitators and organizers are the only ones who prosper on strikes and if the government will stop their salaries by injunction, or if Congress will pass laws to stop them, these troubles will pass away.

The high cost of living would soon disappear if every man in every line would work nine or ten hours a six days in the week. Prod week. Production before, because wages are higher than ever known. It would also eliminate cigners in here to do part of our work. ldleness and short days on the part of the people here is what is causing high prices and shortage of everything.

Word has been received, of a thrilling adventure, when she rodes 150 miles on the roof of a box car over the Rumanlan mountains from Bucharest to the American Red Cross hospltai at Cralova, Rumania. An outbreak of typhus in Rumania demanded an immediate consignment of medicine and surgical supplies. Miss Watte volunteered to make the trip. She had placed her supplies in small cases, and, having them tied to the top of the car mounted the car, where she clung as the train went over a rough mountain trali and through tunnels. MODERN VICES PICTURED.

The following is from the Commercial Appeal of Memphis, Tenn. Dr. Williamson is the son-in-law of Judge R. T. Burns, of Louisa, and has for several years lived in Memphis:

A brillinnt and beautiful word pie ture, as a comparison of the modern vices and dissipations, was painted yosterday morning by Dr. C. H. Williamson, pastor of the First Preshy-terian Church, in his morning sermon as a plea for the halting of the onrush of the world toward these pleasures.

He took his comparison from a work of art in an European gallery, and said

'In one of the gallerios of Europe saw a picture which profoundly im-pressed me," declared Dr. Williamson. 'It was a street scene in a great city. Throngs of people were upon the thoroughfarc. It was night. The brilliant lights revealed the passing show. There were the expensively gowned and be jeweled women with their escorts, bent on pleasure—before the night is old they will have tasted of the eup whose mixture is deadly and whose dregs are bitterness of heart.

"Here are the toilers, men and wo men whose bent forms and pale faces tell the story of their struggle for life. There are the pitlful wrecks of humanity, men and womn who have become the siaves of passion and dis-honor, drunkards, harlots, thieves Children are there, the children of the street—whose pinched faces and ill ciad bodies speak of neglect and bru-talty. The back ground is the nightnight that reaches far beyond the lights of the streets into the illimited future. Not one happy heart is in the throng, not one face radiant with joy.

"In the foreground, to one side, Is the form of a man in anguish, upon hls brow are wounds from which fall blood drops; upon his shoulders a purple robe of meanest texture, plereed hands, plereed feet. The light of sor-row upon his face. It is the son of God, the only one whose message and cross can give the unhappy and the disquited throng peace and happiness. Below, are written the words:

"'Is it nothing to you, all ye that

OMAN SUFFRAGE ADDRESS MADE IN LOUISA THURSDAY

Mrs. Desha Breckinridge, of Lexington, spoke at the court house in Louiss on Thursday of last week to a good sized audience. Her subject was "Women, Our Future Citizens." She is a very fluent and pleasant speaker. Miss Edna Beverldge, of Baltimore, a well known suffragette, was with Mrs Breekinrldge.

The speaker said the question is no longer of whether women would vote, but of how they would vote; whether they would be manipulated by political bosses as other Ignorant voters have been or whether they would form an Intelligent and conscientlous addition to the electorate who would better conditions in our state and lift public af fairs to a higher plane. She sketched briefly the world movement for woman suffrage which is now everywhere reaching its culmination.

She spoke of the war victories and quoted Lloyd George to the effect that England could never have waged suc cessful war without the help given by her women. In England a million and a half women took the places of men in industry. In France a million wo-men worked in munition plants and "Across the dead ages, Jesus Christ England and Canada gave full suffrage speaks as of old to this unhappiness to their women during the war, so labor and are heavy laden and I will speaking people in the world except have granted women suffrage. MY EIGHTY-SECOND BIRTHDAY.

Another birthday comes to me The Lord has brought me safely thru; last year my age was eighty-one This year finds me eighty-two.

The Lord has been my constant shield. Has been my help, dny after day, And when I go to Ilim in prayer He rolls my burdens all away.

I've had some trials along my way. Some conflicts in the year that's past I'm trusting God who never falls, To faith I'm holding fast.

I've had some gloomy days And wrestilngs through the night; In fighting that I thought was wrong And struggling for the right,

The Lord has witnessed all my days And worries through the night; lt's He alone that fully knows Whether I'm wrong or right.

The Lord I know will be my, Judge Whon that Great Day shall come; I'm pressing on that i may reach At last my Heavenly Home. -J. F. HATTEN. Buchanan, Ky., Oct. 15, 1919.

A Word About the Fresh Meat Business

We feel justified in asking for the patronage of the people of Louisa and vicinity in the Meat line because we conduct the business all the year around. It has been the practice here for many years for one or more persons to engage in the fresh meat business during the more profitable season and drop out when warm weather comes with reduced demand for meat and with the heavy expense for ice, etc.

When the price of cattle dropped recently we reduced the price of meat accordingly. It is our intention to treat the public right at all times and to give the best service possible.

We also carry a good line of Groceries and will appreciate your patronage.

We use Fleischmann's Yeast exclusively because they are helping place the baking business on a clean basis.

The War proved the value of bread. It was white bread which helped make our soldiers the finest in the world.

THER foods have their value, but it is Bread which is the real man's food and it is truly the staff of life. But there are differences in Bread. Some Bread is more wholesome than others. You have missed Lobaco Bread. You have found it different from other Breads. There is a reason. Lobaco Bread is made at all times with a blend of three flours from as many different wheat sections.

We never use a substitute. Every ingredient that goes into Lobaco Bread is the best that money can buy. Why we even use butter, because it makes it richer and Bread which keeps better.

We will be baking again November 1st. You will begin to buy this Bread then. When you do, always demand the fifteen cent loaf, because it is the economy loaf. When you place a small piece of dough into an oven at a temperature of 450 degrees the heat is so great that it "dries" out as fast as it bakes out. The result is an unbalanced loaf of Bread. The heat resistance in a fifteen cent loaf is equal. It is the best balanced Bread on earth fifteen cent loaf is equal. It is the best balanced Bread on earth. Do not buy a small loaf when you can get a large one. Try this experiment yourself and see which will keep better after you cut it. You will find the larger loaf will keep twice as long.

Watch for the Lobaco Bread signs. Come and go through our plant. We have something to show you which will make you our permanent customer.

See that there is plenty of Lobaco Bread on your table

Cordiality an Aid to Good Service

The duty of your switchboard operator is to answer your calls promptly and accurately and to help make your telephone service as perfect as possible.

She makes you feel that she is not only rendering this service willingly but joyously. If she sometimes errs, it is only because human agencies at their best are imperfect.

Cordial co-operation over the wire with the switchboard operator who answers your calls makes it easier for her to serve you and adds to the agreeableness of telephoning.

I Owe My Life to PE-RU-NA

Mr. McKinley's letter brings cheer to all who may be sufferers as he was. Read it:

was. Read it:

"I can honestly say that I owe my life to Peruna. After some of the beat doctors in the country gave me up and told me I could not live another month, Peruna saved me. Travelling from town to town, throughout the country and having to go into all kinds of badly heated stores and buildings, sometimes atanding up for hours at a time while plying my trads as auctioneer, it is only natural that I had celds frequently; so when this would occur I paid littis attention to it, until cast December when I contracted a severe cass, which, through neglect on my part settled on my jungs. When almost too late, I began doctoring, bat, without avail, until i heard of Perusa, It cured me; so I cannot praise it too highly,"

We hear such remarks as "it is in the wrong hands and I'll vote against it," "The bonds will be used for huilding the Mayo Trail up the river." Such expressions are misleading and should not be used. Any one can inform hlmseif if he will take the time, which would take about two minutes if he desires to do so. ,

The edict of the court setting forth the roads and the amount of money to be spent on each road shows clearly to any reasonable mind that the Mayo Trail is a distinct and separate proposition to the present order of bonding the county. How any intelligent and progressive man can afford to register himself against this proposition is heyond our comprehension.

Glad to know that Louisa is keeping in line to be an oasis along the Mayo Trail of the future. Wherever the writer has been he finds people with words of praise for Louisa, its shady streets and genial people. Now that a modern brick plant is to go in soon so near as to eliminate railroad shipment alto-gether, situated as it is right on the border of two great coal fields and bidding fair to become the hub of the oll industry of Eastern Kentucky, any one who can see anything but good in store for the Gem of the Mountains must be very pessimistic indeed.

I Owe My Life to PE-RU-NA

Mr. McKinley's letter brings cheer to all who be sufferers as he was. Read it:

Was, Read it:

"I can honestly say that I owe my life to Peruna. After some of the best doctors in the coustry gave me up and told ms I could not live another month, Peruna saved me. Travelling from town to tewn, throughout the country and having to go into all kinds of badly heated stores and buildings, sometimes standing up for houra at a time while plying my trade as auctioneer, it is only natural that I had cold frequently; so when this would occur I paid little attention to it, until last December when I contracted a severe case, which, through negicet on my part settled on my iungs. When almost too late, I began doctoring, but, without avail, until i heard of Peruaa. It cured me; so I cannot praise it too highly."

We hear such remarks as "It is in the wrong hands and I'll vote against it," "The bonds will be used for huilding the Mayo Trail up the river." expressions are misicading and should not be used. Any one can inform himself if he will take the time, which would take about two minutes if he desires to do so. , The edict of the court setting forth the roads and the amount of money to be spent on each road shows clearly to any reasonable mind that the Mayo Trail is a distinct and separate proposition to the present order of bonding the county. How any intelligent and progressive man can afford to register himself against this proposition is beyand our comprehension. OLD LEM JUCKLENS.

Glad to know that Louisa is keeping in line to be an easis along the Mayo Trail of the future. Wherever the writer has been he finds people with words of praiss for Louisa, its shady streets and genial people. Now that a modern brick plant is to go in soon so near as to eliminate railroad shipment alto-gether, situated as it is right on the border of two great coal fields and bidding fair to become the hub of the oil industry of Eastern Kentucky, any one who can see anything but go store for the Gem of the Mountains must be very pessimistic indeed
